HORMONES AND LONGEVITY

The Clinic is pleased to carry herbal-based somatotrophin, Human Growth Hormone or HGH. This is used for the flagging hormonal system and can be used by either men or women. HGH is the latest product to come out of Western research on aging. Some physicians inject it in those trying to hold off age and it is very expensive. Now it is available in a sub-lingual spray which is good for approximately a month (depending on how many sprays you take a day). The 2/3 ounce bottle is $125.00. It is not a supplement to be taken lightly and I caution against dosages which I think are generally too high.

The Clinic will offer saliva testing to determine hormonal levels for the patients who desire it.
